Vision

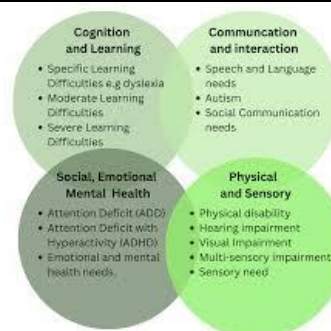

At Hartshill Academy, we are committed to creating an inclusive, aspirational, and supportive environment for pupils. We place pupils and their families at the heart of our community, fostering a collaborative atmosphere where every child is empowered to reach their full potential. By addressing barriers to learning, delivering a dynamic and engaging curriculum, and prioritising equity, accessibility, and excellence, we ensure that all pupils excel academically, socially, and personally. We prepare all pupils for successful transitions to post-16 pathways, including further education, employment, and training.

Admissions

How do pupils with SEND get a place at Hartshill Academy?

For all year groups we follow the Warwickshire admissions process. For Year 7 pupils starting in September, information is made available through primary schools. For all other admissions to the school, parents need to complete the Warwickshire application form available on our website.

Please also refer to:

Hartshill Academy - Admissions

Pupils with an EHCP

- If a child is in Year 5 or Year 6, a preferred secondary school will be discussed at their Annual Review. The SENCo at Hartshill Academy may be invited to attend the child's Annual Review at Year 6 to understand more about the child's needs and how they could be supported by the school.
- The SENCo at the child's primary school will specify their preferred secondary school as part of the Annual Review process in year 6, which will be sent to Warwickshire Local Authority SEND team who confirm the admissions request has been approved via the release of an amended EHCP.
- If a child has an EHCP and is already at secondary school, any requested change of placement must be discussed via the statutory Annual Review process.

Pupils with special educational needs without an EHCP

- Visit this link: Moving schools within the school year – Warwickshire County Council
- In year applications can be made at any time.
- The application process for secondary applications for September 2025, opens on 1 September 2024 and closes on 31 October 2024.

No pupil will be refused admission to Hartshill Academy based on his or her special educational needs. In line with the Equality Act 2010, we will not discriminate against disabled children in respect of admissions for a reason related to their disability.

Where Warwickshire Local Authority proposes to name Hartshill Academy in an EHCP, made in accordance with section 324 of the Education Act 1996, the school will be sent a consultation and will outline whether the pupil's needs can be met and whether a place will be offered or not. If it is deemed that it would be incompatible with the provision of efficient education for other children, this will be outlined in the consultation response to the Local Authority.

Hartshill Academy will admit any child in whose EHCP it has been appropriately named. In deciding whether a child's inclusion would be incompatible with the efficient education of other children, the school will have regard to the relevant guidance issued by the Secretary of State to maintained schools: School admission arrangements - GOV.UK \(www.gov.uk\)

Hartshill Academy welcomes any requests to visit our site to ensure we can meet individuals' needs (with advice as necessary from health professionals on suitability), but this must be done through a pre-arranged visit or by attending our Open Evening.

Identification

How are special educational needs identified at Hartshill Academy?

The SEND Code of Practice (2014) states: 'A pupil has SEN where their learning difficulty or disability calls for special educational provision, namely provision different from or additional to that normally available to pupils of the same age. Making higher quality teaching normally available to the whole class is likely to mean that fewer pupils will require such support. Such improvements in whole-class provision tend to be more cost effective and sustainable.'

Upon entry to Hartshill Academy, we assess each pupil's skills, building on information from previous settings and Key Stages, where appropriate. At the same time, Hartshill Academy will consider evidence that a pupil may have a disability under the Equality Act 2010 and, if so, what reasonable adjustments may need to be made for them.

Only medical professionals will make formal diagnosis of any SEN in all areas of need – screening tools, assessments and observations may be used to support referrals where necessary, but staff at Hartshill Academy have been given explicit instruction not to indicate potential traits or offer any potential diagnoses.

What assessments are used at Hartshill Academy to identify SEN?

Assessments may include:

- Standardised test results
- MidYIS scores
- Reading and numeracy ages (NGRT)
- Reading and comprehension skills
- Dyslexia screening (Rapid dyslexia screening)
- Working memory (Lucid Recall)
- Boxall Profile / Strengths and Difficulties Questionnaire (SDQ)
- Input from external professionals (e.g. educational psychologists, speech and language, CAMHS)
- External support from the IDS Complex Team, IDS Vision Impairment and IDS Hearing Impairment Team
- Psychometric testing involving various attainment and ability tests to identify areas of difficulty
- Graded Word Spelling Tests, Access Mathematics Tests and Access Reading Tests to provide standardised test results and reading, Maths and spelling ages.
- Irlens Screener to help identify colour preference
- Assessments by class teachers identifying pupils with:
 - Significantly slower progress compared to their peers
 - Failure to match or exceed previous progress
 - Failure to bridge the attainment gap with peers

What would not constitute SEN?

Drawing on guidance from the SEND Code of Practice (2014):

- Persistent disruptive or withdrawn behaviours do not necessarily mean that a young person has SEN. If it is thought housing, family or other domestic circumstances may be contributing to the presenting behaviour a multi-agency approach, supported by the use of approaches such as an Early Help Assessment, may be appropriate.
- Low attainment or slow progress do not necessarily mean that a pupil has SEN. In deciding whether to make special educational provision, the teacher and SENCO will consider all of the information gathered from within the school about the pupil's progress, alongside national data and expectations of progress.
- Difficulties related solely to limitations in English as an additional language are not SEN.
- Professionals should also be alert to other events that can lead to learning difficulties or wider mental health difficulties, such as bullying or bereavement. Such events will not always lead to young people having SEN but it can have an impact on wellbeing and sometimes this can be severe. The school has a large pastoral team who are able to support and facilitate appropriate provision for a pupil's short-term needs in order to prevent problems escalating.
- The Department for Education publishes guidance on managing pupils' mental health and behaviour difficulties in schools Mental health and behaviour in schools and this should be read in conjunction with our Behaviour and Safeguarding Policies.

What should parents do if they are concerned that their child has SEN?

- Parents know their children best and it is important that we listen and understand when parents express concerns about their child's development.
- In the first instance, parents should email the SEND administrator amy.walsh@hartshillacademy.org.uk requesting to book a call with the SENCo / Assistant Principal for Inclusion to discuss their concerns.
- The first response to such concerns will usually be high-quality teaching targeted at the child's areas of weakness. At Hartshill Academy, we adopt an approach that every staff is a teacher of SEND.
- Where progress continues to be less than expected, the child's teachers, working with the SENCo, will assess whether the child has SEN. While informally gathering evidence (including the views of the pupil and their parents) Hartshill Academy will not delay in putting in place extra teaching or other rigorous interventions designed to secure better progress, where required.

Warwickshire's Neurodevelopmental Referral Pathways

Neurodevelopment is a term that refers to the brain's development of systems or networks. It influences an individual's performance or functioning. Our performance or functioning may include our ability to learn something new, our reading skills, our social skills, our memory skills or our attention or focussing skills.

What does neurodivergent mean?

Neurodivergent describes differences in learning from what is considered typical patterns of development. It is often used when describing a child, young person or adult who may have a particular way of learning. Often people with a diagnosis such as Autism, Attention Deficit Hyperactive Disorder or Developmental Language Disorder may describe themselves as neurodivergent.

When might a young person need a neurodevelopmental assessment?

Neurodevelopmental needs are common. Figures can vary but it is estimated that around 10% of the population have a neurodevelopmental need. Not all children and young people will however need an assessment. Children and young people do not need a diagnosis to access support. Schools must do all they can to meet the special educational needs of the children and young people who attend.

Referring to a specialist assessment pathway should not be the first step in supporting a young person. An initial period of observations, information gathering and support will be put in place in-line with a graduated response. Consideration will also be given to a young person's needs both at home and in school.

It is important to consider why a request for a neurodevelopmental assessment is required. Parents should be able to clearly explain their reasons for the request, what support the child has accessed and what will be done (at home and school) to continue to support the child whilst waiting for an assessment or undergoing the assessment process.

Getting Help

Neurodevelopmental conditions – Warwickshire County Council

Who can make a referral?

Referral is usually made by the young person's school, with parental consent. However, it can also be made via your GP or another health professional.

The Graduated Approach

What are the Hartshill Academy's arrangements for assessing and reviewing pupils' progress towards outcomes?

Where a pupil is identified as having SEN, Hartshill Academy will take action to remove barriers to learning and put effective special educational provision in place. This SEN support will take the form of a four-part cycle through which earlier decisions and actions are revisited, refined and revised with a growing understanding of the pupil's needs and of what supports the pupil in making good progress and securing good outcomes. This is known as the graduated approach.

Assess

- The SENCo will carry out a clear analysis of the pupil's needs, in partnership with other staff within the school.
- The views of parents, the pupil and, if relevant, advice from external support services will also be recorded.

Plan

- All teachers and support staff who work with the pupil will be made aware of the pupil's needs, the support provided and any teaching strategies that are required. This information will be recorded on a 'Pupil Passport' (Individual Education Plan), which will be readily available on Arbor.
- Parents will be fully aware of the planned support and will receive a copy of their child's pupil passport.
- Hartshill Academy ensures that all pupils have access to a broad and balanced curriculum. Directors of Learning ensure that their paced plans are adapted for pupils with SEN (with guidance from the SENCo, as required).
- Individual teachers (under the guidance of Directors of Learning, where necessary) will plan lessons to address potential areas of difficulty and to remove barriers to pupil achievement.

Do

- The pupil's teachers remain responsible for working with the child on a daily basis, though the pupil may receive additional support from a Progress Coach.

- Where the pupil has interventions that involve group or one-to-one teaching away from the main class, the SENCo will monitor the impact of this support and how the learning can be linked to classroom teaching.
- See also our 'Interventions Offer' (detailed below).

Review

- After 12 weeks (or on the date agreed), the impact of the support will be evaluated against pupil progress.
- A review will take place through a discussion (either on the phone, online via Teams or in-person) with parents, the pupil and the pupil's Key Worker (or SENCo).
- Progress will be evaluated alongside the views of the pupil and their parents.
- The Key Worker (or SENCO) will revise the support in light of the pupil's progress, deciding on any changes to the support in agreement with the parent and pupil.
- A record of the action and support agreed through the discussion will be shared with all appropriate school staff.
- The Pupil Passport will be updated and a copy will be given to parents.
- Where a pupil continues to make less than expected progress, despite support and interventions, the SENCo may involve specialists (e.g. educational psychologist, speech and language therapist, CAMHS, specialist teachers, occupational therapist). The pupil's parents will always be involved in any decision to involve specialists.
- Where a pupil has an EHC plan, the Local Authority must review that plan as a minimum every 12 months.

Whole-school evaluation of SEND provision

- Hartshill Academy makes data on the levels and types of need within the school available to the local authority collected through School Census.
- The SENCo has an important role to play with the Principal in working with the Governing Body to determine and evaluate the strategic development of SEN policy and provision in the school.
- Hartshill Academy works closely with the Trust's (United Learning) regional SEND Adviser to bi-annually audit provision and access further support and advice as required.

Requesting an Education, Health and Care needs assessment

Where, despite the school having taken relevant and purposeful action to identify, assess and meet the SEN of the young person, the young person has not made expected progress, the school or parents can request an Education, Health and Care needs assessment. To inform its decision the local authority will work with us to review actions taken by school as part of the graduated approach.

Exam Access Arrangements

Access Arrangements, Reasonable Adjustments and Special Consideration - JCQ Joint Council for Qualifications

At Hartshill Academy we ensure that pupils who require extra support in their exams receive this. This is based on diagnostic testing as well as collating evidence of a history of need and a pupil's normal way of working.

We offer a range of exam access arrangements to support pupils who have specific needs during their exams.

These arrangements are designed to help pupils with learning difficulties, physical disabilities, medical conditions, or other special educational needs, ensuring they can perform to the best of their abilities. Common access arrangements include:

- Extra time: Additional time may be granted to pupils who require more time to read, process, or write their answers.
- Readers and scribes: A reader can assist by reading the exam questions aloud, and a scribe can write down the answers as dictated by the pupil.
- Word processors: Pupils who struggle with handwriting or have certain physical disabilities may use a word processor for typing their responses.
- Rest breaks: Some pupils may be allowed to take breaks during the exam if they have a medical condition or concentration issues.
- Modified exam papers: These may include enlarged text, braille, or simplified language for pupils with visual or cognitive impairments.
- Separate rooms: Pupils who experience anxiety or have concentration issues may take their exams in a separate, quieter location.

All access arrangements must be applied for in advance and are based on individual assessments, medical evidence, or recommendations from teachers and the SEND team.

Hartshill Academy aim to deal with all matters of concern raised by parents promptly, fairly, openly, and without prejudice. In the first instance, parents are encouraged to discuss their concerns with the SENCo. These concerns can be made in writing and emailed to complaintsHHA@hartshillacademy.org.uk. We aim to resolve matters at Stage 1 within 15 working days.

Stage 2

Schools must implement accessibility plans which are aimed at:

- increasing the extent to which disabled pupils can participate in the curriculum;
- improving the physical environment of schools to enable disabled pupils to take better advantage of education, benefits, facilities and services provided; and
- improving the availability of accessible information to disabled pupils.
